

Navigating Denver's Next Journey: Choice in a Gentrifying City

See more at: apluscolorado.org/denvers-next-journey

Essential Question: Can the Denver community and district better understand the relationship between community changes including gentrification, unified enrollment systems, and school access?

Figure 1

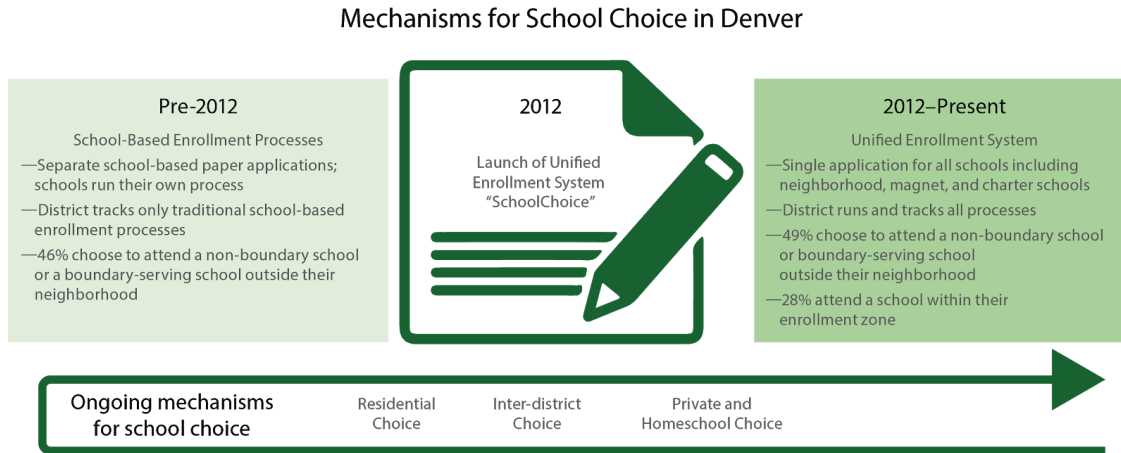

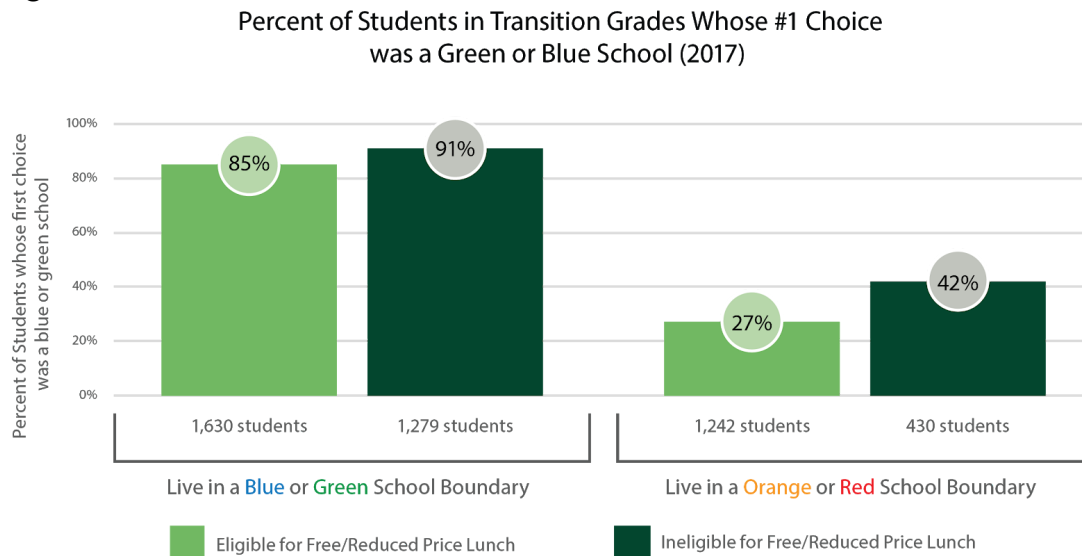

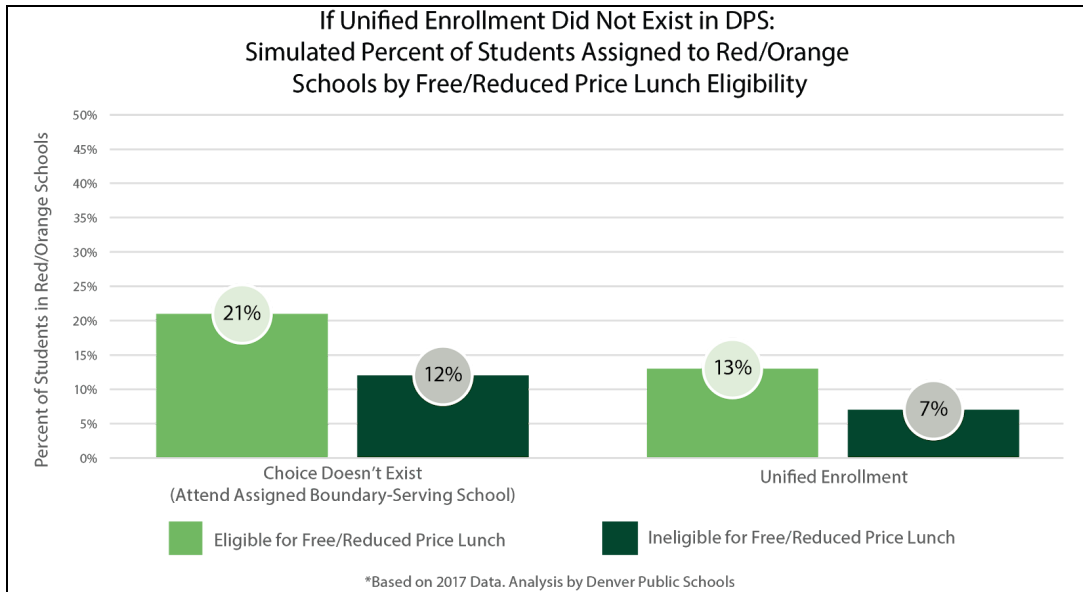

Figure 2

Just the Facts:
Students are more likely to list a Blue or Green school as their first choice during unified enrollment if they live in a school boundary where they are assigned a Blue or Green school. Students ineligible for free or reduced price lunch are more likely to list a Blue or Green school as their first choice than students eligible for free or reduced price lunch.

Follow along on social media!
#denversnextjourney @apluscolorado

Figure 3

Just the Facts:
Fewer students are assigned Red or Orange rated schools through unified enrollment than if all students attended their neighborhood boundary-serving school.

Notes:

